The White home was artistically decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being carried out in pink and green. Pink and green cupids and hearts and roses and carnations were festooned from the chandeliers to each corner of the rooms. Vases of roses and carnations were prettily placed and lent fragrance as well as beauty to the charming scene.

eral vocal solos in a most charming manner.

Quality or Price in Footwear

Quality rather than price should influence your judgment when you buy shoes. You will then realize some pleasure and satisfaction from the shoes you buy. Cheap ill-fitting shoes are costly, no matter what you pay for them. They ruin your feet, your disposition and spoil your pleasure and your work.

We advocate quality from start to finish, because we know it pays. Our shoes are built on the quality standard. We put only the best leather—the best workmanship and the best style to be had in each and every priced shoe we sell. We could buy shoes for much less—but we won't. We want every pair of shoes that we sell to be indelibly stamped with the seal of quality. That makes us glad to meet our customers when they come again.

UTAH-COLORADO CRUCIAL GAME

Last Process of Elimination for Conference Honors to Be Played Off.

Salt Lake City, Nov. 8.—Outweighed 18 pounds to the man, the University of Utah football team faced the University of Colorado eleven here today in their annual struggle. Although Colorado was the favorite, Utah had counted on offsetting with speed the brawn of their opponents.

Today's football games in the Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate is looked upon as the last in the process of elimination for conference honors. The crucial games were the ones between the University of Utah and the University of Colorado, at Salt Lake City and Colorado College and Colorado School of Mines at Denver. The Denver university plays Wyoming university at Laredo.

Colorado enters the game with Utah with the latter team somewhat crippled through the loss of two veterans, Travers and Summer, who have been barred from the game through breaking training. Sutherland, at quarter, became the only veteran of known qualities left on the Utah team. Colorado has suffered from its hard game with Colorado college last Saturday and its team is not up to the standard. Indications are that Utah will be forced to rely almost entirely upon forward passes and open formation, while Colorado will have to revert to close formation, relying mainly upon the punting of Nelson.

Keen interest centers upon the Mines-Colorado college game. The Mines are looked upon as the strongest eleven in the conference as yet unbeaten and if Colorado college succumbs to their heavy line playing today, the Tigers will be eliminated from conference honors, having already lost game. The Mines have the advantage of a comparatively fresh team, while the Tigers are still hurt from their vicious scrimmage with Colorado university last Saturday.

Denver and Wyoming both are the weaker teams of the conference, and already have lost their chances for honors. Denver enters the game today with an edge on the Wyoming team, by the individual playing of its few veterans.

The innovation of numbered players was tried out today in the game here.

OPENING OF PARCEL POST STATION ON SUNDAY

With three clerks at work, the parcel post terminal station will be in operation tomorrow but it is expected that the number of clerks will be increased to twelve before Christmas time. When the work has been systematized, local postoffice and railway mail officials believe that 50 clerks will be needed.

Postmaster W. W. Browning and Chief Clerk W. F. Bangasser of the railway mail service have wired the proper authorities that all arrangements are completed for the opening. The order has been issued to transfer the bags of parcel post matter at Ogden. These bags will be transferred to the station where the clerks will sort the packages into bags for different destinations.

The work to be done in the station is now done by clerks on the train.
